This week’s family challenges:

Post Lockdown Bucket List - During Lockdown there are lots of things that we have not been able to do. So we would like to challenge you to write a list of the top ten things you would like to do when Lockdown ends. It might be places you want to go to, people you want to see or fun things you want to try.

Celebration Picnic - One of our favourite end of year activities is always the Summer Barbeque. As we can’t enjoy that together this year why not have your own garden celebration. This could be just taking your lunch into the garden one day or you might have a family barbeque as a treat. Maybe you could make invitations for your family and come up with some fun games and challenges like we have at the school barbeque.

Thank you! - The end of term is normally time to say thank you to those adults that teach us through the year and help to look after us. This year you have had some extra special teachers- your Mum’s and Dad’s. Why not make them a special card telling them what makes them such a good teacher. Maybe it’s patience and kindness, maybe it’s thinking of fun activities to do, maybe it’s because they are really good at explaining things. Or you could make a thank you message for your teacher in school and send it to them via the VLE or email. What about other people that have helped us during lockdown like key workers?

Lockdown Memory Box - Since school closed in March you will have had lots of new and memorable experiences. Why not gather up all the work you have been doing and pop them into a box to keep which will help you remember lockdown in years to come. Don’t have a spare box? Don’t worry! You could make a scrap book or even follow this tutorial to make a box:

If there are memories you have but you don’t have an item to pop in the box why not write it on a strip of paper to put in?
End of year performance- One of our favourite times of the year is watching children perform, whether that is at Christmas, in the choir or even the Year 6 leaver's performance. Since school has closed you have been asked to learn lots of new songs, dances, poems or magic tricks. Why not put on an end of year performance for your family? You could make ticket, programmes and advertising posters. You could even ask one of your family to record it so you can share it with us.

Share your learning with us by:

- Sending an email to school on admin@woodfield.doncaster.sch.uk
- Sending us a tweet @WoodfieldPS
